Russia's Tyrant General Dies a Natural Death
Sept. 15.

HEART DISEASE CAME.

Many Unsuccessful Attempts to Assassinate Him Had Been Made.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 15.—General Dimitri Trepoft, commander at the Imperial Palace died this evening of Angina Pectoris. Trepoft's name is linked with the reaction and oppression in Russia. He constantly appeared like an evil genius in Russian history just at the time when conditions were most promising for putting an end to despotism, to turn Russian rulers from Liberalism back into reason. He was hated throughout Russia.

GATE PAINTING

Confessed by High School Boys.

The Public School Board held a meeting Saturday afternoon to receive the confessions of three young men who painted the gate of the High School grounds on the night following the suspension of five High School boys. Of the three young men who did the painting only one, Caldwell Peland, is now a pupil. The other two, 'Joe' McCarroll and Ira D. Smith, are graduates of 1905. They appeared before the board and admitted that they did the painting, in a spirit of fun and exonerated the suspended boys from any suspicion of having taken part in the affair. They also offered to go before the High School class and make a statement to the same effect. As only one of them was a pupil the matter was dropped.

The five boys suspended have the privilege of re-entering the schools tomorrow morning.

It has developed that the action of the board in suspending them for a week was hasty and ill advised and matters of discipline hereafter will probably be left to the superintendent. Only two of the five boys suspended had anything to do with the hazing of young Moore. It has been found that he was not held out of the window as charged, but that his feet remained inside the room while he was securely held by two young men. It has also been found by an examination of the published rules, that there is no rule against "hazing" so called. The pranks played upon the pupils have been regarded as such trivial matters that no rule has been made against them.

DRYS SCORE TWICE.

Trigg and Hardin Counties Vote Dry.

Local option elections were held in Hardin and Trigg counties Saturday and both went dry. The fight in Trigg was close and the drys won by the narrow margin of 75 votes. Saloons in Cadiz, Cereulean and one or two other places will be closed. In Hardin county the vote was overwhelming, the dry majority being about 1200.

Union county, earlier in the week, went dry by 1000 majority.

A fierce fight is now on in Woodford county, where the vote will be taken next Thursday.

OUR ARMED INTERVENTION

Makes Cuba the Object of World's Interest This Week.

FIGHTING MUST STOP.

Insurgents Will be Dealt With With Force, of Necessary.

Cuba will undoubtedly hold the interest of the world during this week. The visit of Secretaries Taft and Bacon to the island republic with the avowed purpose of bringing about a solution of the rebellion, which has already resulted in bloodshed and commercial disruption, is recognized on all sides as an event of first importance in world affairs. Preeceded, accompanied and followed by a formidable land and sea-fighting force, the representatives of President Roosevelt will reach the Cuban capital early in the week, and the prophecy has been made in official circles that their work would be completed in seven days. Within that limited time it is expected that it would have been definitely determined whether an amicable settlement of the conflict in the island can be brought about without further intervention on the part of the United States.

A HOT CHASE.

Officer Miller Succeeds in Landing Escaped Prisoner.

Officer Miller had a good test of his ability to stand a long run Saturday night. He arrested a negro by the name of Stephen Haynes for some violation of the law and stepped in a store up town to telephone for the patrol wagon, his prisoner standing near while Miller was calling for the vehicle. Haynes realized that he was about to have a ride at the expense of the city and a bed for the night in the lock-up and concluded that he had rather reach other quarters in a different way and started out at a 2:40 gait. Officer Miller is a pretty good sprinter himself and started after his prisoner. It was soon evident to Miller that Haynes was more fleet on foot than he and he tried the persuasive power of several shots in the air to stop his man, but it did no good and Miller came to the city baffled, out of humor and determined to get his man again in his clutches at all hazards. Luck seemed to be on his side. An incoming excursion train pulled up later and Officer Miller was on hand and cleverly eyed each colored excursionist. Finally he saw his man step on the platform of one of the cars to leave for parts unknown. "Lige" nabbed him and landed him in the lock-up in a few moments.

KITTY SUIT.

General Attachment to Force Payment of Judgment.

Among the last suits filed Friday afternoon was a petition by attorney John Feland, asking for a general attachment against the K. I. T. base ball league and its officers to force payment of a judgment for $750 and costs, which he secured at the spring term of circuit court. The suit was originally brought for the purpose of recovering money paid in for the franchise of the Hopkinsville base ball association and for damages asked by reason of this city being dropped from the circuit.

The Old Reliable Jewelry House

of Hopkinsville is, after all, the best place to get anything in the jewelry line. There's a record behind us, a record of over thirty years; a clean record of satisfied customers, a record of honest dealing, for honest quality, honest prices. It's a record any jeweler might feel proud of. And when we sell an article we have in mind that we have a record to maintain, and no slipshod methods, no careless workmanship, no lack of quality, is ever allowed to mar the record of the past. But to improve, if possible, this record, is ever our aim, and goods are sold for as low a price as it is possible to sell reliable goods.

It will pay you in the end to deal with the Old Reliable Jeweler.

SPORTS AND ATHLETICS

With a total of 295 strokes for the 72 holes, Alec Smith, of Nassau, N. J., won the open golf championship of the United States on the links of the Duquessa club at Pinehurst, N. C., last week. The remarkable feature of Smith's performance was
his final round of 75, made in a heavy rainstorm.

ALICE SMITH, with a strong and fifteen breeze. An average man could not do any better if he could throw the ball as far as it can be hit with a golf club. To those who braved the storm and followed the player around it did not appear possible for any living player to do better. Smith now holds the western and national open championships, as he took the honors in the western over the Homeowner links the previous week. Willie Smith, American champion with two rounds of 74
each, took second honors with a total of 302 strokes, and James Maiden, of Toledo, and Lawrence Auchterlone, of Glenview, tied for third honors with 305 each. Willie Anderson, present title holder and four times winner of the national open championship, finished fifth. The wet greens were too much for Anderson, and he took 84 strokes, bringing his total to 207. Alexander Ross, of Oakley, finished sixth, with 319. Stewart Gardner, of Canton City, seventh, with 311. H. Chandler Egan, national amateur champion, and Gilbert Nichols, of Denver, tied for eighth and ninth places with 311 each. Jack Hobens, of Englewood, N. J., finished tenth with 344. Egan took 80 for his afternoon round, but this was low enough to place him within the substantial honors of the tournament.

Alec Smith, Willie Anderson, Willie
Smith, and Lawrence Auchterlone are rated as the leading professional golfers of the western hemisphere as a result of the championship tournament. As Willie Smith is connected with a Mexican club and is open champion of that country, Stewart Gardner completes the quartette of leading golf professionals in the United States.
Plans are being made for contests similar to those in Great Britain in which Vardon and Taylor of England oppose Herd and Braid of Scotland. In which Stewart Gardner and Alec Smith will represent the east and west. Willie Anderson and Lawrence Auchterlone will be the western combination. Another contest in which Willie Smith, of Mexico, and Percy Barrett, of Canada, will oppose Alec Smith and Stewart Gardner.

R. D. Little, one of the American expert tennis players who recently journeyed to England for the purpose of bringing back the Davis trophy, but in which they were unsuccessful, is credited with being credited with being the coming man in this country. Holcombe Ward recently returned from the disastrous invasion and makes the prediction that he will force the front rapidly now after his experience abroad. He showed his class in the work and made the best showing of the visiting Americans. Little has been a hard competitor, and a round

frill of Valenciennes lace adds to the preferred the sacque could be made of Irrigation in Nevada.

The irrigation work of the national government has made its first great conquest in this same Nevada. Into this parched sand and sagebrush the water was turned last year from the works of the "Carson and Truckee
project." It was the most important event in the history of the state, of more lasting value even than the discovery of the Comstock lode. From the massive masonry dam constructed to hold the waters of the Truckee river
the blessed flood was turned over 50,000 acres.

This was the first completed
section of a plan which is to irrigate almost 1,000,000 acres of desert. This means, within a few years, 50-acre farms for 20, 000 families, on which they are certain of large and profitable crops. It means also new towns and cities to supply this great farming community with the products of the mills and mines
and factories of the country, east and west.

More than that, it means a new population of perhaps 200,000
souls and a prosperous principality added to the greatness of the union. It is all purely creative, for wealth is made where there was none before, and magnificent opportunity offered for independent and self-reliant livelihood to those who hunger for it.

Prescribed for Himself.
Little Alice has an aged uncle who lives near her and whom she regards as an inexhaustible
source of ice cream, candy, toys
and nickels. The other day Alice, in playing about, got her foot jammed between two stools which came close together, and in the operation of extracting the little one from her predicament
the foot was badly abraded.
That night she sat on the stoop
of her house, her injured foot done up with bandages and her mind reful that she could not sport with her companions. To her appeared her aged and benevolent uncle.

"Well, well, little one," said
he, "how is the foot getting on to-day?"
"Oh, it is better," replied Alice.
But it would be a great deal better if I only had some ice cream."
The prescription was filled at once and really did seem to afford instant relief.

HAPPY WOMEN.

Plenty of Them in Hopkinsville, and Good Reason For it.

Wouldn't any woman be happy,
After years of backache suffering,
Days of misery, nights of unrest,
The distress of urinary troubles,
She finds relief and cure?

No reason why any Hopkinsville
reader
Should suffer in the face of evidence like this:
Mrs. John C. Coombs, of 1226 Virginia street, says: "For a great many years I suffered with a persistent aching across my loins and through my kidneys. At times my back was so bad that I could hardly turn in bed and I could hardly lay on my back at all without placing my hand under it, which seemed in a measure to relieve the pain. A friend of Mr. Coombs told him about Doan's Kidney Pills and he got a box for me at L. A. Johnson & Co's drug store. On using them I steadily improved until the dreadful aching was relieved and I could attend to my household duties without any inconvenience. They did more for me than any medicine
I ever used and I gladly recommend them for sale by all dealers. Price 50c.

One of the season's big aerial acts which seems to have attracted unusual attention and comment is being given in the Barnum & Bailey circus by an imported company of high-air gymnasts who have won fame in Europe under the name of the Imperial Viennese Troupe of Aerialists. The troupe comprises ten artists, and the feats they perform in the air are said to be little short of marvelous. Single, double and even triple somersaults are accomplished with apparent ease.
These mid-air vaulters also dart from one swinging trapeze to another over an open space of sixty feet, landing on the opposite bars, or being caught by one of their number at the moment of descent.
The Imperial Viennese Troupe are said to receive over a thousand dollars a week.

TOO BIG TO PARADE.

Barnum & Bailey Continue Successful Experiment of Eliminating Street
Pageants.

A circus that is "too big to give a street parade" is a novelty even in these days of colossal enterprises and mammoth amusement institutions. But that is the announcement of the Barnum & Bailey circus,
which exhibits in Hopkinsville Wednesday September 26.

In speaking of the reasons for this striking innovation a representative of the big show, said recently: "The Barnum & Bailey circus has become so large that a parade is no longer possible or even desirable. If we could be absolutely sure of getting into town by daybreak, the parade would still be feasible, but with our five long trains of cars, this is too much to expect of the railroad companies. In many instances it is 8 or 9 o'clock before the last section arrives, and 10 o'clock before it is unloaded and the paraphernalia transferred to the show grounds. Street parades were all right when circuses were small,
and were necessary from an advertising standpoint. The Barnum & Bailey show is too well-known to need advertising of this character, and instead of wasting time and energy on a conventional street display, every effort is concentrated upon the performance."

The experiment of cutting out the parade was tried in this country for the first time last season, and the circus man was asked what effect
the innovation had upon the business of the big show.
"If anything it helped the patronage," was the reply. "The necessity for eliminating the parade because of the magnitude of the show that was actually too big to give a procession."

The Barnum & Bailey circus is the only one that has had the courage to cut out the parade. Another well-known showman, when asked if his show would follow suit, replied: "I would like to, but I can't. The Barnum & Bailey circus is the only one that is big enough to do it." And it is evident that it has introduced this innovation in the circus world
because the show gives popular satisfaction without the aid of what is at best a conventional display of so-called pageantry.

The absence of the parade is more than compensated for by this year's big arctic acts and "thrillers."
There are a number of big sensations, and the structural steel used in these startling acts alone utilizes the carrying capacity of several railroad cars. Incidentally, it is announced that a splendid free show will be given at the exhibition grounds daily at 11 and 5 o'clock, by Prince Youturkey, a remarkable performer on an elevated wire-cable.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens vitality; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle upon request, by mail free, also a Home of Swamp-Root pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonials received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

EDITOR CHITTENDEN

Is Not Yet Free From His Trouble with Judge Gordon.

Ignoring his payment of a fine to the county judge of Livingston county, the grand jury has again indicted J. E. Chittenden, formerly editor of the Chittenden Record, for contempt of court, and he will have to face that charge before Judge Gordon, of the Livingston Circuit Court. Editor Chittenden's troubles grew out of the bitter political controversy in Livingston county, when a fusion ticket defeated the regular Democrats, and some printed circulars brought on libel suits in the Circuit Court. Editor Chittenden incurred the displeasure of Judge Gordon by his writings and was brought before the court on the charge of contempt. He appeared before the county judge and paid a fine of $200 as he claimed, with the distinct understanding that the record should show that he did not plead guilty. The grand jury paid no attention to this disposition of the case and indicted him again. Mr. Chittenden is now insurance inspector located in this city, having sold his property at Marion.

MARK TWAIN'S COL. SELLERS

Not a Creation of the Great Humorist's Brain.

SO SAYS THE AUTHOR.

Well Remembered as a Citizen of Hopkinsville, Jas. Lampton.

Nearly everybody is familiar with the writings of Mark Twain. His autobiography is now running in the North American Review and in the opening chapters Mr. Clemens says that the character of "Col. Mulberry Sellers" was not a creation of his imagination but was a real living person, and he only put him on paper. Here is what Mark Twain says of the greatest of all his characters:

"John T. Raymond's audiences used to come near to dying with laughter over the turn-up-eating scene, but, extravagant as the scene was, it was faithful to the facts in all its absurd details. The things happened in Lampton's own house, and I was present. In fact, I was myself the guest who ate the turn-up. In the hands of a great actor that piteous scene would have dimmed any many spectator's eyes with tears and raked his ribs apart with laughter at the same time. But Raymond was great in humorous portrayal only."

The real Col. Sellers, as I knew him in James Lampton, was a pathetic and beautiful man, a straight and honorable man, with a big, foolish, unselfish heart in his bosom, a man born to be loved, and he was loved by all his friends and by his family worshipped. It is the right word. To them he was but little less than a god. The real Col. Sellers was never on the stage. Only half of him was there. Raymond could not play the other half of him; it was above his level. There was only one man who could have played the whole of Col. Sellers, and that was Frank Mayo.

"James Lampton floated all his days in a tinted mist of magnificent dreams and died at last without seeing one of them realized. I saw him last in 1884, when he had been twenty-six years since I ate the basin of raw turnips and washed them down with a bucket of water in his house. He was become old and white-headed, but he entered to me in the same old breezy way of his earlier life, and he was all there yet—not a detail wanting; the happy light in his eyes, the abounding hope in his heart, the persuasive tongue, the miracle-breeding imagination—they were all there; and before I could turn around he was polishing up his Aladdin's lamp and flashing the secret riches of the world before me."

Many of our older citizens remember "Jim" Lampton when he was a citizen of Hopkinsville many years before the civil war. He kept a hardware store on the corner of Main and Ninth streets, where the First National Bank now stands. He is remembered as a jovial, care-free kind of a fellow, with a lot of funny stories always on hand, and in relating them at the front door of his store never failed to have a knot of listeners about to hear him tell them in his own inimitable way. Debonair, big-hearted, and apparently without ever entertaining a serious thought longer than it took to get it out of his life, he made friends of all who met him. He was not a business man in any sense of the term, and never took life seriously enough to speculate as to whether weal or woe might come with another week—he lived in the present. Mr. Lampton owned and lived in the old two-story building which was on the ground now occupied by the brick residence of Mrs. Annie L. Starling, North Main street.

After doing business in his own novel way here for some time Mr. Lampton moved his family to some part of Missouri, and later in life formed the acquaintance of Mark Twain, who made the show of a man greater, probably, than the original. But as "a prophet is not without honor, save in his own country," it may be that the great humorist could see more in Mr. Lampton than did other men who knew him as well.

The old Book News of Philadelphia enters upon its twenty-fifth year as The Book News Monthly, and celebrates its "silver anniversary" by marked improvements, but in substance and make-up—including the first of a series of beautiful three-color reproductions of famous paintings. A simpler and more convenient arrangement of its many book reviews will be appreciated by its wide circle of readers. Two new departments are likely to be popular: "The Book Outlook," consisting of brief accounts of forthcoming books; and "The Old Bookshop," with short articles on things old and rare. The "Educational" department is amply illustrated. Under "Books for the Study and Library" Dr. Talcott Williams continues his scholarly reviews.

Torture By Savages.

"Speaking of the torture to which some of savage tribes in the Philippines subject their captives, reminds me of the intense suffering I endured for three months from inflammation of the kidneys," says W. M. Sherman, of Cushing, Mo. "Nothing helped me until I tried Elicol, three bottles of which completely cured me." Cures liver complaint, dyspepsia, blood disorders and malaria; and restores the weak and nervous to robust health. Guaranteed by R. C. Hardwick, druggist. Price 50 cents.

SAVED BABY LYON'S LIFE

Untold Suffering and Constant Misery—Awful Sight From That Dreadful Complaint, Infantile Eczema—Commenced at Top of Head and Covered Entire Body.

MOTHER PRAISES CUTICURA REMEDIES

"Our baby had that dreadful complaint, Infantile Eczema, which afflicted him for several months, commencing at the top of his head, and at last covering his whole body. His sufferings were untold and constant misery, in fact, there was nothing he would not have done to have given him relief. The family doctor seemed to be wholly incapable of coping with the case, and after various experiments of his, which resulted in no benefit to the child, we sent to Marion, Ill., to the drug and grocery store, a full set of Cuticura Remedies and applied as per directions, and he began to improve immediately, and in ninety days he was fully recovered, with the exception of a rough skin, which was gradually disappearing, and eventually will be replaced by a healthy one."

"Praise for the Cuticura Remedies has always been our greatest pleasure, and there is nothing too good that we could say in their favor, for they certainly saved our baby's life, for he was the most awful sight I ever beheld, prior to the treatment of the Cuticura Remedies. Mrs. Mary E. Farnon, Esq., Appon, Va., Farnon, Esq., July 18, 1905."

COMPLETE TREATMENT $1

Complete external and internal treatment for every humor, consisting of Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills, may now be had for one dollar. A single set is often sufficient to cure the most torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning, and scaly humors, eczema, rashes, and irritations, from infancy to age, which all else fails.

Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills are sold throughout the country. Send for "The Great Skin Cure."

CLIMAX MILLS

Will be Running About 1st of April.

The contract for putting up the building for the Climax Mills was let Saturday night. The Forbes Manufacturing Co. were the successful bidders for the contract.

The building is to be of brick. The Forbes Mfg. Co. have sub-let the work of putting in the foundation to Lucian Davis. The excavation is about ready for the stone work to begin and the workmen will commence work tomorrow.

The contract calls for the completion of the building by January 1st. As soon as completed the machinery will be installed and it is expected that the mill will be running by the first of April.

The staples for the use of the mills have already been built and everything will be pushed in order to begin business at the time specified.

The Climax Milling Co. have been moving slowly and carefully in the matter of getting up specifications and placed the business in the hands of the most experienced designers. The plans were drawn with the view of increasing the output of the mills at any desired time, the company feeling that that would be necessary in a short time after operations had begun. Our people generally wish the new enterprise all the success that its incorporators and investors anticipate.

Hopkinsville is fast becoming a milling center, as we have before remarked, and the products of the mills are fast supplying the consumers of the South. If we can't get cotton mills, shoe factories and other enterprises that have been talked about in the past few months we can get others equally as good. But we believe home capital will have to be invested, and we do not doubt that it would be better for the city after all.

CAUGHT IN HENDERSON

And Made to Adjust a Complaint From Here.

The police of Henderson arrested a negro named Adam Wilson Saturday on a complaint from J. C. Graves, of this city, that he had jumped a bill and owed him other bills amounting to about $4 and had taken away $13.75 trading tickets on a commissary store here. Wilson gave up the tickets and the matter was dropped.

The Harvest.
Once ebb'd a sapphire sea by vagrant breezes stirred,
Now stubble bristles rear where reapers' blades have whirled.
The ripened, sun-kissed fields have yielded up their gold;
The women in their bins the garnered bushels hold.
The season's wealth is in; the scales have made their test—
The harvest sun, of red, has settled in the West!

The harvest year is done! What treasure didst thou gain
What said the scales in pounds when weighing out thy grain?
How planted thou? And what? And how beneath the sun?
Didst thou thy daily vigils keep with work begun?
Didst thou a faithful day o'er healthy planted seed
Or didst thou, careless, tarry whilst the grass and weed Crept in and left their suckers on thy harvest field?
For by that record didst thou garner harvest yield!

Ah! by thy daily tending shalt Life's harvest be,
A-scent of bushels or a bursting sight to see!
The harvest field of Life yields what thyself hath sown,
And what thou garnerest is all thy very own!
Then on the field of Life it pays with care to tend Thy daily duty to the harvest's golden end.
Sow only wholesome wheat in kernels sound and strong—
Pick out the stiffening growth—the weeds and tares of wrong!

Once ebb'd a sapphire sea by vagrant breezes stirred,
Now stubble bristles rear where reapers' blades have whirled—
What gleanest thou? A harvest from a laden field
Or shrunken grain? The harvest of thy yield!

Thoughts in My Den.
Nature abhors the old, who love her most.

A man with a boil on his neck finds no joy in 18-story buildings.

Any fool can ask questions, but it takes a wise man to stop him.

The older we get the more we realize the limits of our abilities.

He who does his level best seldom finds it necessary to do other people.

Absence makes the husband's heart grow fonder after the dishes are all dirty.

It takes seeds to raise flowers, but some men can raise Cain without half trying.

No one knows what is in him until he gets down to hard work and mines the claim.

Too many men who have not the ability to build a dog house try their hand at erecting palaces.

Some men who think they are regular devils are merely innocent lambs with abnormal imaginations.

It is almost worth being away from home to find, upon returning, how much she has missed you.

The goose stands on one leg and holds up the other—so the life of me I never could tell why.

Some men abhor vice, but rent their buildings to harlots. The love of money covers a multitude of sins.

Some married couples are about as illy mated as a dachshund and a greyhound—and still they wonder why they don't get on together.

There is no city so attractive to the traveler as the little home "back yonder." We see not alone with our eyes, but with our heart as well.

The bill collector always appears sordid and grasping to the man who has just returned from communing with nature on his summer vacation.

"What shall I do with all the days and hours that must be counted ere I see thy face?" writes a Kansas man to his innamorata. How would it do to suck cider through a straw or try filling a straight from the top side?

"I see thee in my dreams, sweet-heart, and yet I cannot reach thee!" writes a Chicago man on his vacation to his best girl. I'll bet that fellow would hug a girl in the park while a labor day parade was passing.

The ambitious man is frequently happier than he is of restless ambition. Progress is built by men scourging themselves to great deeds. The contented man seldom builds castles.

The revolution is on in Russia. Despite his wishes, the horoscope suggests that Czar Nicholas must soon say with Richard II:

"I give this heavy weight from off my head
This unwieldy sceptre from my hand,
The pride of kingly sway from out my heart."

Southwest

The Land of BIG CROPS and PROSPERITY.

Are you making as much off your farm as you ought? No doubt you are making all you can. The trouble is the land costs too much. It takes too much money to buy a big farm, and so you are trying to make a living on a small farm, or perhaps you are renting one and paying a good share of what you raise, in rent. Wouldn't it be better to go where the price of good land is so little that you can own a big farm—where every acre of the ground is working for you and all you raise is paying you good profits?

There are thousands of acres of fertile land in the Southwest along the line of the Cotton Belt Route that can be bought for from $3 to $10 an acre. This land is increasing in value each year.

See the Southwest at Small Cost.

A trip to the Southwest would convince you that your best interests lay in settling there. The trip can be made at very little expense. On the first and third Tuesdays of each month you can purchase a round trip ticket to any point in the Southwest or on via the Cotton Belt Route at very low rates. Non-overs will be allowed for you to examine any locality you are interested in. Write at once for free copies of books describing this wonderful country and for full information about cost of tickets, etc.

SHOT IN THE CHEEK.

John Cole and Kirk Bush Fall Out Over $1.50.

Saturday night John Cole and Kirk Bush, both colored, got into a difficulty about $1.50 that Cole owes Bush. After quarreling for a while and using abusive language, the wordy war finally resulted in a sure-enough fight. Bush drew his gun and fired at Cole, the ball striking his right cheek and making an ugly flesh wound. Both were placed under arrest and will have their trial before County Judge Breathitt as the difficulty occurred just beyond the city limits.

The Best Made Better.

The enlarged edition of Webster's International dictionary, recently issued, brings Webster again abreast of the growth of the language and again confirms it in its position of the One Great Standard Authority. A decade has passed since the International was first published and the years have been full of changes and growth in life and knowledge and achievement; changes that have been reflected in the language and that must now be registered in the dictionary.

25,000 new words and phrases have been added to the international to include the new words that have come into literary use, the old words that have changed their meanings, the obsolete words that have been revived.

An advertisement of the 1906 edition will be found in this paper.

MISS MATTIE STAPP

Passes Away at Her Home Near Lafayette.

Lafayette, Ky., Sept. 17, 1906.

Editor Kentuckian:—

Miss Mattie Stapp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wick Stapp, who live about three miles East of this place, died Thursday night at the home of her parents of consumption. She was about 18 years of age and had been on the decline more than twelve months, but was not confined to her bed until about three months prior to her death. She was a member of the Asbury Methodist church and was kind and courteous, and very pious. Her serious illness was brief, but was attended with a great deal of suffering, but she bore it with a christian fortitude. Miss Stapp was a first cousin of Mr. Sink Wootton, of this place, and she leaves a host of friends to sympathize with her mother and father, five brothers and one sister in their bereavement. After a short, but very consoling talk Friday after the grave by a member of the Asbury church, the remains were laid to rest in the Moss burying ground, near her home.

A Scientific Wonder.

The cures that stand to its credit make Bucklen's Arnica Salve a scientific wonder. It cured E. R. Mulford, lecturer for the Patrons Husbandry, Waynesboro, Pa., of a distressing case of piles. It heals the worst burns, sores, boils, ulcers, cuts, wounds, chilblains and salt rheum. Only 25c at Hardwick's drug store.
